An unusually interesting event of this week will be the exhibition of the international doll collection at the residence of Mrs. P. D. Ridenour, Ric. East. Eighth, which will be opened Monday and counting through the week. One of the chief purposes for which Mrs. Elizabeth R. Horton, of Boston, made this union collection was the siding of children's charities and it is shown here for the benefit of the building fund of the new Children's home, for which the women of the W. C. A are working zealously. Mrs. Horton has written a booklet, giving the history of the collection, which had its beginning in a queer little Chinese doll mide of peanuts. The next addition was of several shy dolls of Indian manufacture. A doll given by a Roston firm for the state, of Massa, chinestis was named, by popular vote, Priscilla Alden, and is dressed as a faithful representative of the original Pricellia. There has been no saving of expense or trouble to gather dolls from all over the world, and dolls of all nations and even from remote Islands of the sent are shown.

Because of the sid which the collection was considered in the residence of the sid which the collection was a farmed, by popular vote, Priscilla Alden, and is dressed as a faithful representative of the sent are shown.

Mrs. B. is an earnest church worker, a gentile, modest little woman with a serche faith in her fellow man—and woman. When preparations were being made for the entertainment of visiting delegates to the missionary convention. Mrs. B was among the first to proffer her services and agreed to receive two of the ladles in her home. Her strange guests arrived and were comfortably installed. At the breakfast inhe next morning, said Mrs. B: The first meeting of the convention takes place the morning, and I will go with you to be church, for, of course, you would have some trouble finding it by vourselves. "Oh, thank you! You are very kind," replied one of the delegates, "but I am ont at all well, and I don't believe I shall go, Indeed, I think I shall not attend any of the meetings, my health is so poor, I have very nearly had nervous prestration and my family thought this would be a splendid opportunity to have a change. They felt it would do me so much good. Oh, no, I can't think of it. But I hope to be well enough to get some shopping done."
